You will have a good right to feel proud when you get a Detroit. You will have the pride of driving and owning one of the best-looking automobiles made and the pride of knowing that you have made a good investment with your money. If you buy now you get a car that is up to the minute because of the Detroit plan of never waiting till next season before introducing such slight changes as are thought best.

Fundamental Features That Do Not Change

But the nine big features of the Detroit are always the same. Years of experience have proved that all of the big, costly cars contain these features, but the Detroit is the only popular-priced car that combines them all. Nowhere else within hundreds of dollars of the Detroit's price will you find

THE NINE BIG FEATURES:

1. Ball bearing throughout.
2. Long stroke, high power motor, unit power plant fully enclosed.
3. Full floating rear axle.
4. Left hand drive, center control.
5. Extraordinary braking surface.
6. Multiple disc clutch running in oil.
7. Extra capacity tubular radiator.
8. Enclosed valves all on one side.
9. Platform rear spring.

Ty Cobb Slides at Every Opportunity

"Georgia Peach" Touches the Inside Corner of the Sacks When Running Bases to Cut Down Both Time and Distance.

DETROIT, Mich., July 3.—Here are some of the secrets of the success of Ty Cobb. They are set down as he gives them and they will give baseball followers the inside dope, or part of it, on the world's greatest player.

Cobb never tries to place a hit. He wants the ball and cares nothing for direction. He rarely plays the hit and run play. A man who makes two hits out of every five times at bat can get along just as well without hit and run. It would hurt the team's chances to ask Cobb to make the play frequently.

Cobb never tries to outguess a pitcher. He strikes at bad and good balls alike. He does not try to figure out what they intend to serve him.

Cobb slides at every opportunity. He has made sliding a second nature to him so that he will slide without making up his mind. He slides with as little planning as he picks up a bat when going to the plate.

Cobb has eleven different ways of sliding. He uses all of them in the course of a series.

Cobb touches the inside corner of the sack when running bases. This causes him to cover less distance and gives him a fraction of a second in time consumed. He goes three feet less in running from one sack to the other than the majority of base runners.

Cobb tries to outguess pitchers and catchers when running bases. He always tries for the unusual, to do the thing the least expected of him.

Cobb always slides to the other side of the field and throws his body away. He is supple as a contortionist and quick as a panther.

Cobb has trained his body and mind to work in perfect harmony. Constant practice made this possible. Cobb thinks faster than any man in baseball and also moves faster.

Cobb constantly tries to cross the base runner in fielding. He plays a defensive outfield, just as he runs bases when on the offensive.

Baseball and Prizefight Gossip

HARRY GILMORE, promoter of the Venice Athletic club, has picked Leach Cross to win over Bud Anderson. Gilmore declares that Anderson is a wonderfully improved boxer and it looks as if Cross is going up against the hardest battle of his career. Should the bout go 20 rounds, Gilmore expects Cross to win.

August Hermann, chairman of the national commission, has handed down a finding in the fight between Leach Cross and Bud Anderson. The commission ruled that the fight was a draw. Hermann, a student of the Notre Dame university, to the Chicago White Sox, Lathrop signed to play with Chicago at the end of his college term. He then signed to play with the New York Yankees, claiming that he needed this money to complete his college work. The chairman declared the giant contract void and ordered the player to report to the Chicago Americans.

The injury to Chas. Doon's hand is not as bad as he first thought. Doon had the X-ray flashed on the damaged digit. The examination revealed a bad dislocation and a ragged tear. Three stitches were put in the wound and Doon expects to do his turn behind the bat for the Phillies inside of 10 days.

Kid Williams who is booked to meet Kid Fayo in the semi-final of the Foy-Dixon fight has arrived in Albuquerque, N. M., to train with Tommy Dizon. Both fighters have been working out before a large crowd every afternoon. The ring and seating rooms have been constructed and everything is in readiness for the bout.

American league umpires who have worked behind the plate in games in which Walter Johnson has pitched this season declare that the big Senator hurler has not been showing the speed he displayed last year.

Joe Birmingham has instructed his players in a way to prevent the old hidden ball trick. The Naps have been directed to hug the bases until the opposing pitcher takes his place on the slab and they positively know where the ball is.

President Cleveland has ordered that the so-called Cincinnati base hit will not be recognized by the official scorers of the American association. Cleveland contends that it would be unjust to pitchers to score hits against them when the basemen's judgment is a tough tearing slinger, having a safe.

KID MORAN WANTS TO FIGHT HERRICK

Middleweight fighter joins manager in El Paso—Plans to open training quarters in Cloudcroft.

Kid Moran, a middleweight fighter, of Louisville and Paducah, Ky., arrived in this city Tuesday, where he joined his former manager, W. E. Chapman. Moran will meet any middleweight in the southwest, but prefers a bout with Jack Herrick. He says that he will agree to meet Herrick on the latter's own terms.

Here is a small portion of his past record: Jack Wilcox, Springfield, Mo., won by the knockout route; Joe Allen, Gulfport, Miss., awarded a decision; he also claims to have fought Battling Nelson a 10-round draw at Kansas City, Mo., in March, 1929.

"Kid" Moran refers all business matters to his manager, who expects to open training quarters at Cloudcroft.

JULIAN OUTFIGHTS BUCK.

New York, July 3.—"Kid" Julian, of Syracuse, outfought Tommy Buck, of Philadelphia, in one of the three 18-round bouts between featherweights here last night. Frank Fleming, the Canadian title holder, had a shade the better of Joe Goldberg, of Rochester. Nat Brock of Cleveland, defeated Al Delmont, of Boston.

JEFF CLARK WILL NOT BE BROUGHT HERE

Juarez prize fight promoters have decided not to have Jeff Clark come here to fight. But Clark, being disappointed with the information they have received from Memphis regarding his recent fight with Joe Jeannette, Clark has been at work and is said to be in fine condition to meet Clark, who will fight on the job, after putting the officials to considerable expense.

JEFF CLARK WILL NOT BE BROUGHT HERE

Both Jack Carroll, of San Francisco, and Jack Herrick have entered training for their bout on July 11. Jack boxed five days last week at the Stanton training camp. Carroll is a husky little boxer. Very much on the order of Jack Dixon, who assumes the offensive throughout the fight. The preliminaries which were staged up for the Carroll fight will be staged on the 11th.

Little Bobbie and His Pa

Pa Sets Out to Teach the Villagers Something about Farming a Bit Himself. By William F. Kirk.

IT WAS so windy yesterday that Pa and me didn't go fishing. We were going to a little talk there was a lot of pickered, but the gulls and it wouldn't be any use to go, so Pa and I went to the village. Well, Bobbie, let us talk a stroll about the village and watch the men at their work. There is a grade deep of planks in watching somebody else work, Pa and me, especially these kind of craftsmen, and I think Bobbie. Out it is highly developed, like mine, it can direct operations of all sorts, though I've never had any actual experience in the details of the operations. Now, for instance, there is some Frank Foster planting potatoes. Let us stroll over there and see if he is doing it right.

Good morning, Mister Keener, and Pa when we got there. I see you are planting potatoes. There is nothing like a good crop of potatoes for the winter's store, Pa said.

But I ain't planting potatoes, said Mister Keener. I planted these potatoes a month ago. I didn't have anything to do with them. This morning, as I thought I would stroll around among the potatoes and have a chat with the folks, I found them really little things, potato bugs, he said. Speak to one of them and watch it with its tail.

I said that Pa was kidding Pa, but Pa's brain wasn't highly developed that way and he couldn't see it. All he said was, Well, I haven't seen any success with yure garden, and we walked along.

There was a carpenter building a house across the street. His name was Mister Bill Thompson. Good morning, Mister Thompson, and I said to you are building a pretty little bungalow. I would like to have one sometime like it, Pa said. Maybe, if you want too busy now, I will go ahead with it. I always thought this would be a pretty town to live in.

This ain't a bungalow I am building and Mister Thompson. This is a ten house. It is a much bigger bungalow. You see you look like the kind of a bungalow. Please move along now and don't bother me. It rained all day yesterday so I couldn't work and now that it is nice and sunny I don't want every yep come along to stop and ask foolish questions of me.

Carpenters are generally rude, cross trained persons, and Pa to me after we had moved along. I said to you that Pa was pretty mad but I didn't feel a bit sorry for him, he had no business bothering a man who was working.

Just then we passed a lively stable and Pa was the owner with two little jackasses.

A Fine Team. Good morning, Mister Maus, said Pa. Can I help you to hitch up yure fine team of mules? I used to hitch up mules when I was in the army, said Pa.

HURLEY TO BRING STRONG TEAM HERE

Mavericks Release Catcher Bob Smith—Morris Will Do Backstop Work.

Automobiles will again be used in the trip of the Hurley baseball team to this city, but they will not come all the way from the copper mines to Washington park this time. Three big cars will be used to haul the Hurley delegation to Denver, where they will catch a train for El Paso Thursday night, according to a dispatch received at the office of the Maverick management.

Fresh from their recent practice games in the mining camp, the Mavericks, bolstered up with three recently acquired players, will arrive in the city this morning. From reports received, a large delegation of fans will accompany the team.

Several different prizes for the winners in the different field day events have been donated to local merchants, and an additional cash award of $250 will be given. The following articles have been donated for the winners, in each feature: A silk shirt, a tie, a five pound box of candy, two boxes of cigars, a hat box, a full hat, felder's suit, one pair of shoes and one of baseball shoes.

Schultz is still having trouble with his underarm, but it is probable that he will participate in both games. Two new additions have been made to the club in the shape of a backstop and outfielder. Bob Smith, a catcher over 6 feet before the season started, has been released, and Morris has been added to the roster. In the absence of Harry Barker, formerly with the Silver City, will play left field. Harry is now in San Antonio with Co. K and will remain there long enough to see Cliff El work in that city. El manager Carson, of the Navigators, decided to use him against the Broncos. Saturday will be "women's day," and children under 12 will also be admitted free of charge.

Ald Lee has been matched to meet Kid Harrison, of San Francisco, reputed to be a nifty boxer. Bob York, a major league pitcher at the Bristol camp, will meet Walter Gray in a four round curtain raiser.
